LOOKS AS IF THE LATEST WOULD HAVE TO HIRE A HALL FOR IT.

Letters Pour In on Mr. Sheehan's Lawyer and His Telephone Is Busy-Lawyer's Story of the Dangers of Trying to Collect a Board Bill by Holding a Trunk.

Messages of sympathy and promises of assistance from other victims of Magistrate Pool continued to pour in yesterday on Charles A. Sheehan and his attorney, William J. McCormick. Mr. Sheehan is going to hold a meeting soon of all who have grievances against Pool. If the number continues to increase as it has in the last two days it looks as though he would have to hire a hall to accommodate

Mr. McCormick had a busy day of it answering telephone calls and reading letters that he had received in the morning mail from people who asserted that they had been unfairly treated by Magistrate Pool while he was sitting in police court. The greatest sufferers, apparently, were lawyers, some of whom, who rarely appear in a police court, were greatly shocked by the manners and methods of his Honor. The regulars who make a business of conducting petty cases have become accustomed to it.

"We can only pray that the like of him will never again be appointed to the bench," said one of them yesterday. "I know that there is something of a popular prejudice against police court lawyers; but some one has got to do this work, and I think we ought at least to get a fair show. I think also that the proportion of honest men is just as great among the lawyers who practice in the police courts as among our brethren of the bar who would scorn any retainer less than $1,000. We have no fault to find, speaking generally, against any of the Magistrates except Pool. The way he treats us is simply outrageous."

and unreasonable with attorneys for complainants, but that his treatment of de-fendants and their legal representatives is just as bad. He has a way, it is said, is just as bad. He has a way, it is said, of jeering and sneering at people who come before him and getting offalleged jokes, which are either not understood orwhich greatly exasperate the persons at whom they are aimed. A sample of this, quoted yesterday, was his persistence in asking Mrs Sheehan her telephone number when it had nothing at all to do with the case. It is alleged that early in his career as a Magistrate when a man named Battersby pleaded guilty to stealing a peck of onions Pool illegally committed him for sixty days, indorsing the papers that the prisoner waived his right of trial. On the same day he is said to have done the same thing with another prisoner, remarking that the Grand Jury was an obsolete body and that he as a Magistrate had more power than they.

It is further alleged that upon another occasion Pool locked up the rooms of the Children's society in the Fourth District Court, which he had no right to do, and that while he was having the locks changed he had no right to do and that while he was having the locks changed he comported himself in a frantic manner. In the lesex market police court a charge of burglary was made several years age against a watchman named Gilber by John Klein, an East Broadway tailor. The charge was not sustained to the satisfaction of the Magistrate and he fined the complainant $2. One of those who have been surred up by Pool's recent actions in court is Paul S. Brown, a baker, of 33 Third avenue. Mr.

S. Brown, a baker, of 33 Third avenue. Mr. Brown made a charge of larceny against a young man who he said had carried away a valuable white cat from the bakery and the case came up before Magistrate Pool, when questioned the baker could not recall on the spur of the moment the name of the oustomer who had left the cat with him for safe keeping. The cashier, to whom the accused was married, gave the customer's name and said that the cat had been left with her and not the baker. In the left with her and not the baker. In the meantime she had left Brown's employ.

"I'll admit," said Mr. Brown yesterday, "that there was an apparent discrepancy in the testimony, and if it had been any other meant the same of the same o Magistrate than Pool I suppose he would merely have dismissed the case for lark of evidence. But not so with Pool. Haurned on me and abused me terribly 'If you have got any property,' said he I would advise this young man that he has a good case for false arrest.'" good case for false arres Lawyer Theodore G. Lewis of 49 Wall street also had something to say yester-day about Pool's method of holding court. Mr. Lewis has among his clients a woman Mr. Lewis among his chem's a woman boarding house keeper who was holding the trunks of a boarder for an unpaid board bill, as the law gives her a right to do. The boarder got a summons for her, charging her with unlawfully detaining the property. The case came before Pool and the owner of the trunks produced two bills for board, which Mr. Lewis declares were not respectively. which Mr. Lewis declares were not re-ceipted. The Magistrate, however, de-cided that they had been paid and ordered a commitment to be made out against the a commitment to be made out against the boarding house keeper for grand larceny. In order to save herself from going to jail, Mr. Lewis said, his client signed an order for the release of the trunks. Afterward the Magistrate told him, the lawyer said, that the Board of City Magistrates had made a rule to act in the same way with all similar cases, on the ground that New York landladies knew how to take care of themselves.

Still another who came forward with a Still another who came forward with a grievance against Pool yesterday was Charles Barkman, a salesman in a furnishing store at 546 Third avenue. He says that his wife had him arrested twice for non-support, but he was discharged in both instances by the Magistrates who heard the case because his wife would not live in the house with him. The third time he was brought before Pool, who believed the wife's story that Barkman had beat her and who ordered the salesman locked up. Barkman was transferred that afternoon from the Morrisania police court to the prison attached to the Harlem police court, and when his employer appeared to go on his bail bond there was no record to show what charge Barkman had been held on. It might have been murder or highway robbery, and as a result Barkman had to stay in jail all night.

WILL HEAR CHINA'S PROTESTS. Baron Komura Reaches Pekin To-day to Discuss Manchurian Affairs.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN PERIN, Nov. 11 .- The Grand Council, which is composed of the Ministers of State, is in session. Yuan Shih Kai, commanderin-chief of the Chinese army, is expected to arrive in Pekin to-morrow with Baron Komura, the special envoy from Japan to the Chinese Government. WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 .- According to advices which have rea hed Washington, Baron Komura, the Japanese Minister of Foreign Affairs and the head of the Japanese peace mission to Portsmouth, will arrive in Pekin to-morrow to take up a number of questions with the Chinese Government. Among these will be a number caused by the terms of the treaty of peace signed at Portsmouth. The Russian Minister at Pekin, M. Pokotiloff, will probaly participate in the negotiations. There can be little doubt, now that an opportunity affords itself, that China will push the protest she made several weeks ago to Russia and Japan concerning certain provisions of the treaty of peace. The document provides that the province of Mancharia shall be evacuated within eighteen manths. China objected vigorously to this, maintaining that the time limit was altogether too great. The Chinese suggested that it be reduced to nine months. Another point in the treaty China objects to is the provision that an armed guard shall be maintained in Manchuria by both Russia and Japan to watch over the railway lines owned in the province by the two countries. The agreement made provides for fifteen guards for every kilometre of railway. According to China this would mean a standing guard of perhaps 20,000 Russian and Japanese troops in Chinese territory. China's protest, which was sent to both St. Petersburg and Tokio. said that China was perfectly able to afford protection for the property of Russia and

PLAN A 50-MILE MOTORWAY. Englishmen Seek Franchise for Line From Lendon to Brighton.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN LONDON, Nov. 11 .- A bill now being prepared for presentation to Parliament pro vides for acquiring the tower necessary to make a motorway from London to Brighton, about fifty miles.

Mr. Barber, one of the directors of the Anglo-American Telegraph and Cable Company, who is the prime mover in the scheme, says it will be dustless and stoneless, and wide enough for four cars to run abreast. There will be a partition separating the up and down tracks. It will be fenced in, and will thus keep out stray animals and trespassers. There will be numerous depots and charging and generating stations. It will be lighted by electricity at night. The maximum gradient will be 30, and there will be no curves of a radius less then 1,000 feet. Its use will be confined to motor vehicles and there will be no speed limit. The cost of construction has not been finally estimated, but it will be somewhere in the neighborhood of £1,000,000. This outlay and the cost of keeping it up will be met by a system of tolls.

This is the first scheme of the kind in Great Britain, and is entirely distinct from the existing motor speedway and race-

REILLY DROPPED IT THROUGH ROOF NEXT DOOR.

Lassoed Another and Tried to Yank It Into Rear Yard-Hauled Back Out of the Atmosphere, He Gives Cop a Tussle

-Did Godiva Act-Ambulance Jarred. Friends of Mike Reilly say they are going to do their best in trying to persuade him o get on the water wagon and stay on after he is discharged from the alcoholic ward at Bellevue. They fear that if he doesn't all the buildings in this city will be wrecked. Mike is a husky young truck driver and he lives at 426 West Fifty-third street. He got started on election night and was unable to stop. He did nothing out of the ordinary until yesterday at noon, when he disrobed at Broadway and Forty-ninth street. Friends bundled up both Mike and his clothes and deposited them in the rear of a livery stable near by. Some time later Mike got back into his clothes and announced that he would get even for the treatment he had received. He had conceived the idea that the proprietor of the livery stable had wronged him, and strutting out shouted: "I'll fill yer damn place with chimneys!"

There was a terrific crash in the carriage store of Daniel P. Nichols at 1599 Broadway shortly after 1 o'clock. The employees on the first floor rushed to the street, thinking that the building had begun to collapse. The store is a two story structure and an investigation made by Policeman McGowan and the employees a short time later showed that a huge coping stone and a goodly quantity of bricks had smashed through the roof and landed with a bang on the second floor. No one was on the floor at the time of the crash. Considerable damage had been done to several carriages and other stock.

Every one about the place was puzzled as to where the bricks came from. Finally, some one noticed that the southerly chimney on the roof of 1601 Broadway, a three story building adjoining the carriage store. on the root of 1001 Broadway, a three story building adjoining the carriage store, was about half there. This chimney was at least three feet from the edge of the roof and it was plain to every one that the part in the carriage store could not possibly have fallen the way it did without some kind of assistance.

Policeman McGowan decided to go to the roof of 1601 and investigate. There is the root of 1601 and investigate.

roof of 1601 and investigate. There he noticed a rope about the northerly chimney and also observed that the rope was quite taut. The other end of it stretched over the rear edge of the roof. The cop peered over the edge and found Mike Reilly danmarket.

LIFTED CHIMNEY OFF HOUSE. Spling on the rope just below the edge. McGowan reached over and got Mike by the scruff of the neck and from then on had a lively struggle in dragging him up to the roof. His cries brought others to the roof, and after a hard tussle Reilly was landed. It was at first thought that he had knotted the rope about himself, but he had knotted the rope about himself, but he hadn't. He had simply wrapped his hands and legs about the rope and held on.

In his ravings he told the policeman that he had lifted off the southern chimney, but lost it. He said he then tried to pick up the other one, but it held fast, and he decided to pull it over interests.

cided to pull it over into the rear yard.

Reilly was descending from the roof in a peaceful manner, when he suddenly decided to fight, and Policeman McGowan had a to fight, and Policeman McGowan had a hard time in getting him down to the street. At the West Forty-seventh street police station Reilly was charged with being drunk and disorderly and was locked up. At 7 o'clock last night the doorman found Reilly's condition such that it was decided to remove him to Bellevue.

An ambulance was summoned and Dr. Vandiver of Roosevelt Hospital responded. Policeman Schafer accompanied the surgeon and the prisoner on the ride to the hospital. As the ambulance was being driven down Broadway in front of the Hotel Astor it got into a mixup of runaways. A horse attached to a hansom cab and driven by John Barrett of 516 West Fortyseventh street became frightened and crashed into a delivery wagon. The latter banged against another cab, driven by Dennis Driscoll of 521 West Fifty-second benns Driscoll of 521 West Fifty-second street. Then all three rigs smashed against the ambulance.
